

NATIONAL
RURAL HEALTH
RESOURCE CENTER

Dear Minnesota Web Recruitment Customer,

Since 2008, the National Rural Health Resource Center \(The Center\) has offered Minnesota Web Recruitment, a web-based service providing greater Minnesota clinics, hospitals and urban community health centers a cost-effective way to promote health care provider practice opportunities via the National Rural Recruitment and Retention Network \(3RNet\).

Recently, The Center conducted a Rural Recruitment Analysis Report. This included administering and analyzing a needs assessment, and thoroughly examining current health provider workforce data. The results of both the analysis and the workforce examination led The Center to making the following changes:

1. The Center elected to discontinue the Minnesota Web Recruitment posting service as of June 30, 2017.

2. The Center is expanding its workforce services.

The Center has provided workforce services for rural Minnesota communities since 1992, including salary surveys, regional workforce forums, recruitment and retention trainings and analyzing workforce needs for health professions. We will be redesigning our workforce services to better help Minnesota clinics, hospitals and behavioral health centers navigate the changing health care environment with a focus on rural recruitment and retention. Updates on these new workforce services will be added to our website as soon as they become available.

As we move forward, we thank our past customers and their investment in The Center's Minnesota Web Recruitment service. We look forward to supporting Minnesota communities and their efforts to ensure quality access to health care in rural Minnesota with our redesigned workforce services.

Sincerely,

Sally Buck
Chief Executive Officer
National Rural Health Resource Center
